	Taken from note accompanying donation: "Feb. 12, 1931. My dear Mr. Deats, Package came in good shape on Wednesday - no, Tuesday afternoon. Thank you very much. Recieved also the returned check with your note. You have been so kind and have done so much work with Allie's things that the least I thought I could do was to pay postal charges. However, that is only another kindness. I suspect 'doing kindnesses' is a habit of yours. Now about the names of the Diltsfamily in the picture. Standing, counting from left to right, are Charles, Asa and Holcombe. Sitting, counting from left to right, are George, Eugene, Belle Carey, now Mrs. Job Wolverton of East Orange NJ, AsaReed Dilts, Sr. , Mar Louise Carey, now Mrs. James P. Holwar, Plainfield, NJ, Oliver C., and Elizabeth Carey.

P Px445a Print, Photographic	Note accompanying photograph reads: "This is a photo of a circa 1850 daguerreotype of the Kingwood Friends Meeting [House], in Quakertown, New Jersey. The building of this Meeting House was started sometime after 1747. The roof burned in 1752, and then the structure was completed by 1754. This Meeting House was torn down before 1862 to make way for the present structure, built using the stones from the original. Based on three drawings by Evangeline Vail in the late 1800s, who may have had the original daguerreotype (now missing) to work from, we surmise that this photo of the daguerreotype was printed backwards: the little stone additon off the gable end should be on the left side. This is the only mid-1800s image of an early structure in Quakertown, and perhaps all of Franklin Township. -Dan & Marty Campanelli, July 9, 2011." Enlarged from a daguerreotype of about 1850. The picture is from a photograph taken of the group upon its arrival in Seattle upon the return East. It will be noticed that all have beards of five months' growth, and all are arrayed in their working clothes - the style adopted by miners in the alleged gold fields. The beards change the familiar appearance of our friends. There is William A. Abbot standing on the left, whose beard gives him a strong resemblance to the Marquis of Queensbury; the gentleman on his right, who looks like Sagasta of Spain, only handsomer, is Harry B. Quick; the benevolent and philanthropic featured gentleman with the Horace Greeley style of whisker, who sits in front of Mr. Abbot, is Octavious Pearl Chamberlin Jr., and the one to his right, who might be mistaken for the first officer of an emigrant ship		Processed	Box 10; Vault 1
