Abstract:	The collection comprises personal papers of Mr. Bush, ranging from the 1970's until his death. The collection includes his diaries, manuscripts of his fiction and essays, research notes, correspondence, financial records, and photographs. In particular, Mr. Bush's articles and research notes provide valuable insights into the history of southern Hunterdon County and many of the families who lived there.
BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES:	Egbert Trimmer Bush was born on June 21, 1848 to Sidney L. and Elizabeth McPherson Bush on a farm about a mile above Croton. Largely self-taught, Mr. Bush earned his teaching certificate, then served many schools in the area, including Croton, Klinesville, Cherryville, Mount Pleasant and Van Dolah's. In addition to teaching, Mr. Bush owned a peach farm during the late 1880's until the early 1900's. He was a published author and poet; in addition to a regular column in the Hunterdon County Democrat , his stories and essays appeared in many periodicals and his book of poetry, When Leaves Grow Old , was published in 1916. Mr. Bush married Sarah Eleanor Willson in 1871. They were married for 51 years until Mrs. Bush died in 1922. They were blessed with two children: Percy W. and Evelyn B. (Bush) Johnson. Mr. Bush died on November 12, 1937 at the age of 89.
SCOPE AND CONTENT	The Egbert T. Bush Papers consist of: (i) 26 diaries and memorandum books; (ii) 65 folders of handwritten or typed materials; (iii) 10 folders of financial records; (iv) 2 folders of published works or advertising documents; (v) 18 folders of newspaper articles; and (vi) 18 photographs. The collection provides information on Stockton and other towns and villages in southern Hunterdon County as well as the peach business prevalent in Hunterdon County during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries, and ways of life during this period.

Series 1:		Diaries
Box/Item		Contents
1	1-21	Pocket Diaries 1874; 1917 – 1932; 1934 – 1937 Ten clothbound pocket diaries measuring 15 cm x 9 cm  Six leather bound pocket diaries measuring 15 cm x 9 cm  Four leather bound pocket diaries measuring 12.5 cm x 8 cm  All but two are made by the Standard Diary Company, Cambridge, Massachusetts The diaries are in varying degrees of condition, from good to fair. They are all somewhat worn, with the diaries from 1918, 1922, 1932, 1934 exhibiting slight tears; those from 1921, 1925, 1931 have spine damage; and those from 1929, 1930, 1932 are mildewed. There is a short entry for each day, beginning with a comment on the weather, including a temperature (except for the entries from 1874). Mr. Bush goes on to describe his activities of the day. Sometimes he adds a philosophical musing such as that of December 31, 1928: “So endeth another year—and whither?” The last entry is November 11, 1937. The non-calendar entries contain addresses, calculations and notes, including notes on testamentary law, working notes, and interesting facts. The diaries’ pockets contain miscellaneous slips of paper, including notes, receipts, membership and business cards, and newspaper clippings.
