BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES:

George I. Bushfield was born in Stanton (Readington Township, NJ) on January 13, 1900. He attended Stanton's one room school, graduating in 1913; Flemington High School, graduating in 1917; and Columbia College (now Columbia University), graduating in 1922. He worked for the New York City advertising firm of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne (now BBDO), leaving in 1953 to return to Stanton.

Bushfield joined the US Navy in 1942, where he was in charge of publicity for nationwide recruiting and induction. He left the Navy at the rank of Lieutenant Commander. In 1944 during his service in Washington, he met and married Elizabeth Hayden.

After he returned to Stanton in 1953, he focused on civic responsibilities. These included: (i) the Hunterdon Medical Center's first board of trustees; (ii) Readington Township's first planning and zoning boards; (iii) helping to form the South

Branch Watershed Association; (iv) Readington Township's Tercentenary Committee; (v) leading protesters against a jetport in Readington in 1967; (vi) leading the fight to prevent the Transcontinental Gas Pipeline from condemning property for a right of way through Stanton.

Bushfield passed away on February 12, 1969. He is buried in Newell Cemetery.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The George Bushfield Papers consist of 46 folders of handwritten or typed materials and 95 photographs.
