Context:

Dates of accumulation: 1885-

Name of Creator: Hunterdon County Historical Society

Administrative / Biographical history: The Hunterdon County Historical Society was founded in 1885 in Flemington to "collect all possible important County historical facts...for future reference"; thus: Collect, Preserve and Share became our mission.

Today the Society has more than 500 members.

In the beginning, the Society operated out of one room on the second floor of the Flemington Public Library, built on land donated by Hiram E. Deats, a civic leader, author, philatelist and historian. Mr. Deats was the Society's Librarian from 1891 to 1963, when he died and bequeathed the organization large numbers of books, manuscripts and genealogical files. As a memorial to his generosity, the Society named its collection the Hiram E. Deats Memorial Library and opens it to the public at no charge. It is now housed in a 1940s building matched to the Greek Revival style of the adjacent 1845 Doric House at 114 Main designed by Architect/ Builder Mahlon Fisher (1810-1874) for his own home.

The Society purchased the Doric House in 1969, restored it and moved there in 1972. Today it is a museum furnished with authentic antiques appropriate to the period. It is free and open periodically and by appointment.

A sampling of the Society's collection includes Lenape Indian artifacts, genealogies of Hunterdon families, records of its businesses, churches and civic groups, historical manuscripts, 5,000 printed volumes, photographs, maps, and County newspapers since 1825. They are stored in a two-story, state-of-the-art, environmentally-controlled archives building at 67 River Road in Raritan Township designed to serve archival needs for the next 50 years.

Custodial history: This is an open ended accession; as time passes more materials from the Board of Trustees, Administrative Office and back files of the Society will be processed and added to this collection.

Copyright and Conditions governing reproduction: Statement on Copyright and Fair Use

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material. Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of these specified conditions is that the photocopy or reproduction is not to be "used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a user makes a request for, or later uses, a photocopy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," that user may be liable for copyright infringement. This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if, in its judgment, fulfillment of the order would involve violation of copyright law.

Publication and Use

Please note that all reference reproductions are for personal/study use only. The possession of a reproduction of HCHS collection materials and the payment of associated reproduction service fees, does not constitute or imply permission to publish or exhibit. It is necessary for researchers to obtain separate, written permission for the publication or exhibition of all material held in the HCHS collections. All licenses are for one use only and each additional instance of use must be separately requested in writing. Usage rights fees, above and beyond reproduction costs, may apply and vary depending on whether a reproduction is for an individual, non-profit, or commercial institution and how it will be used (personal research, publication, exhibition, etc.). All reproductions must credit the Hunterdon County Historical Society as the source of the image or document.
